

that's a really interesting question

user1

ultimately, i think that being hypocritical is more of just a plain old human trait rather than one used by one party

user1

however, though, it does seem like republicans say one thing about one thing because god told them to do so, but deny another but very similar thing for the same reason

user1

for example, public schools in so many states are so godawfully run, health insurance is so costly, parents get very little support - all actions chosen by republicans

user1

and yet, they want abortions to be illegal

user1

they say it's because abortion is murder

user1

giving off the vibe that they care about humans

user1

but in all other actions they clearly show they just do not care about people

user1

specifically poor people or minorities

user1

some people, including my own brother even, claims that democrats are the hypocritical one because we tout that we're all accepting and nonjudgemental

user1

and yet we despise donald trump and other terrible atrocious people

user1

im like, yeah i dont like racist bigots and i will never show one ounce of support for anyone of that mindset

user1

I think that most Republicans are definitely more hypocritical than most Democrats. The Republican politicians 'claim' to care about the American people, about the little man, about Educating our children, about protecting our children, about providing healthcare to Americans, but, nothing that they do is a reflection of any of these values. They claim that they care about our Democracy, but, then do nothing to hold the people, politicians, and particularly trump, for supporting an attempt to 'overthrow' our Democracy. Something that I NEVER thought that I would see happen in this country. We have seen governments overthrown in 3rd world countries for many, many years; but, it just seemed like something that was impossible in our Democracy. I am truly ashamed to have these people represent us in Washington, and for whatever reason, they are to justify their disgusting behavior. I believe it is solely their greed and their desire to retain their seats that is more important than anything.

user2

They don't deserve the support of honest, moral people... which shows me just how many racist people that there still are in this country. SAD.

user2

money and power are the most important things to soooo many people

user1

and the people who dont care about money and power get squashed by those that do

user1

its sickening

user1

I 100% agree. All of these republicans who are in the pocket of the NRA should be so ashamed of themselves. I bet they would forego the 'benefits' that they are receiving from the NRA if it were THEIR children who were being killed.

user2

those cops should be punished as harshest as possible

user1

I'm thinking that these people actually do not believe in GOD, or they would be trembling in their shoes with their behavior and the things that they have allowed.

user2